His Majesty Sultan Qaboos Bin Said, Sultan of Oman
Dear Students,

Welcome to Grade 12 and the revised Engage With English textbooks for Semester B.

The focus for your Post-Basic Education English work will be on practising and consolidating the language work you have been introduced to over the previous eleven years.

You will see that there are four main themes in your Coursebook and Workbook. In each theme there are five units which are each about a different aspect of the main theme. Each unit in the theme has a different main language focus. These are reading; grammar; vocabulary; listening and speaking; and writing. You will also be integrating the language skills throughout the themes.

In addition to the main themes there are two additional sections which follow on from each theme – ‘Across Cultures’ and ‘Reading for Pleasure’. Each section is for you to study by yourselves. ‘Across Cultures’ focuses on a different country after each theme while ‘Reading for Pleasure’ introduces you to a range of different reading genres. Moreover, a page of extra grammar activities has been added to each theme to provide you with further opportunities for grammar practice.

In addition to the Coursebook and the Workbook you will need an exercise book to make notes and to record new vocabulary.

Have a great semester!
Acknowledgment

The Ministry of Education would like to thank all organisations and individuals who contributed to the interviews, recordings, photographs and other materials in the revised edition of Engage With English 12B.

1. Read the text on pages 2 and 3 of your Coursebook again. Write short answers to the questions below (not more than FOUR words for each answer).

1. Name three different kinds of celebrities.

2. What was Paparazzo’s profession?

3. How do the paparazzi make celebrities come out of buildings?

4. Who did a lot of people blame for Diana’s death?

2. Read the information below. Decide if the statements under the text are True (T), False (F) or there is no information given (NG). Write T, F or NG in each box.

A Career in Press Photography

If you are interested in current affairs, are good at taking pictures and have the right technical ability, you could consider a career in press photography.

Press photographers take pictures to record news, current events and stories. Their aim is to capture the best images to show an event, tell a story or convey a message. The pictures are printed in newspapers, magazines or appear online. Press photographers can specialise in a number of different areas, including sport, war, current events and entertainment.

A press photographer’s job can develop into photojournalism. Photojournalists must have a talent for investigating and telling a story, using pictures and words to convey the message. Photojournalists often work for magazines rather than newspapers, and can work on projects over a long period of time.

1. Press photographers only need to be able to take good pictures.
3. Press photography and photojournalism are the same thing.
4. Photojournalists don’t only use pictures.
Look at the picture on the right. Guess what Abdullah Al Shuhi’s job is. Read the interview and answer the three questions underneath in your exercise book.

Interviewer: Do you work for newspapers or magazines, Abdullah?
Abdullah: I used to take pictures mostly for newspapers, but recently I’ve started doing magazine work as well.

Interviewer: How did you get into press photography?
Abdullah: After I left school, I got a job as a technician on a newspaper, developing photos. During this time, I learned a lot about photography. When the three photographers on the newspaper retired, I had the chance to become a press photographer myself.

Interviewer: What qualities does a good press photographer need?
Abdullah: You need to understand your camera, and know how it works, and keep yourself up to date with all the latest digital technology. You also need a passion for photography.

Interviewer: Why are photographs so important?
Abdullah: Most people today are very busy and don’t have time for reading articles. They want a quick summary of an event. A picture can get the message across very quickly. That’s why about 60% of a newspaper often consists of pictures.

Interviewer: What advice do you have for young people who want to be press photographers?
Abdullah: Press photography is a great job, but you have to work hard. You can take hundreds of pictures but maybe only one or two will be good. So you should learn to be very patient.

1. How did Abdullah first learn about photography?
2. Why are there so many pictures in a newspaper?
3. What two things does Abdullah advise young people to do?

Read the text in Activity 3 again. For each item, shade in the bubble next to the correct answer.

1. Abdullah takes pictures for _____________.

Laila interviews a member of the public, Khalid. Listen to the conversation. As you listen, tick (✔️) Khalid’s answers in the boxes in the questionnaire above.
Hey, guess what! yesterday I took part in some market research for TVC. The interviewer’s name was Laila. She asked me a lot of questions.

Really? What did she ask you?

Well, first, she asked me how old I was, and if I was married. She wanted to know if I (1) was employed and if it was full-time. Then she asked me (2) ____________________ .

What did you say?

I said I liked visiting family and friends and going to the beach.

What else did she ask you?

She asked me if (3) ____________________. Then she wanted to know if I did any sports and if so, (4) ____________________ . So I said I liked swimming and going to the gym.

Didn’t she ask you anything about television?

Yes. She wanted to know (5) ____________________. And then she asked me (6) ____________________ .

Rewrite the sentences below in reported speech, using the verbs in brackets. The first one has been done for you as an example.

a “You are always late.” (complain)

   He complained that I was always late.

b “You’re absolutely right.” (agree)

   *He ____________________. *

c “My name is David.” (reply)

   *He ____________________. *

d “Swimming in the sea is good for you.” (say)

   *He ____________________. *

e “I’m late because of the traffic.” (explain)

   *He ____________________. *

f “You can’t park outside my shop.” (insist)

   *He ____________________. *

Turn to page 74 of your Workbook and complete the Grammar Practice Activities.
1. Listen to the interview with Jack about news stories. Write short answers to the questions (not more than THREE words).

1. How does Jack get news?

2. What does he like about newspaper headlines?

3. What kind of news stories does he enjoy most?

4. What doesn’t he like reading about?

2. Read the information about adjectives, and the pairs of adjectives in the box below. Then complete activities A and B in the box underneath.

Adjectives ending in –ed describe how we feel about someone or something.

Adjectives ending in –ing describe someone or something that has an effect on us.

A. Circle the correct adjective in each of the following sentences. The first one has been done for you.

1. I am not very interested/interesting in the lives of celebrities.
2. I watched an amused/amusing film on TV last night. It was so funny that I couldn’t stop laughing.
3. Maha has some excited/exciting plans for the future.
4. Ali was very disappointed/disappointing that his team lost the match.
5. Those statistics about traffic congestion are very shocked/shocking.
6. I was surprised/surprising to see Fatma in class today. I thought she had gone to Dubai.

B. With a partner, think of similar pairs of adjectives. Make a list in your exercise book. Then write pairs of sentences to show the differences between the adjectives.
A. Refer to Coursebook, page 7, Activity 4. Read the story below. Does it answer the questions you asked about the story?

Omani boy saves tourist from drowning

A 17 year old Omani boy was walking on the beach at Sohar when he heard someone shouting for help. He saw a man waving to him from the sea. The boy rushed into the water and brought the man safely to the shore. Later, the man, a tourist from Germany, said, “This boy is very brave. He saved my life.”

B. Choose one of the headlines in Coursebook, page 7, Activity 4. Write a short news story to go with the headline, using the vocabulary you predicted to help you.

Complete the crossword. All the words are in Units 1 – 3 of this theme.

5. Turn to Communication Activity 1 on page 64 of your Workbook and carry out a survey of how people get news. Write a short report about your findings.
Listen to Jon Turner, a TV director, talking about his job. First, read through the topics in the list below. Then, as you listen, number the topics he talks about in the order that you hear them.

Note that TWO topics are not mentioned. Write the letters of these topics in the boxes.

a advice for others   e best thing about the job   g memorable moments
b challenges          f regrets                        h what the job involves

c future plans        i d qualities needed for the job

Topics not mentioned =

Match the vocabulary items in the list on the left with the meanings on the right. Check the meanings in your dictionary, if necessary. Note that there is ONE extra word.

a documentary         e car race on public roads
b expedition          f film or TV programme about a particular subject
c location            g long journey to a faraway place

April 15th, 1912

The New York Daily Star
Titanic sinks, 1500 dead

Yesterday evening, the Titanic, the biggest ship in the world, (1) hit an iceberg in the Atlantic Ocean and (2) sank. The ship, which (3) belonged to the White Star Line Company, was sailing from Southampton to New York on her first voyage. She was carrying over 2,200 passengers but only about 700 (4) survived, mostly women and children.

When the Titanic (5) began to sink, the radio operators (6) sent a message to other ships in the area. One ship, the Carpathia, was about 93 kilometres away. When she (7) received the Titanic's message, she turned around and (8) came to help. But she (9) couldn't get to the Titanic for four hours. The Carpathia (10) rescued the survivors from lifeboats in the water, and is bringing them to New York.

2. Read the text in Activity 1 again. Write short answers to the questions below (not more than FOUR words).

1. Who were the owners of the Titanic?
____________________________________________________________________

2. Who were the main survivors of the accident?
____________________________________________________________________

3. How did the Carpathia know that the Titanic was in trouble?
____________________________________________________________________

4. Where were the survivors waiting?

2 Answer these questions on the lines provided.

1 What is the currency of Jordan? ____________________________
2 What colour are the Bedouin tents? _________________________
3 Who is the King of Jordan? _________________________________
4 What is Petra sometimes called? ____________________________
5 What film was made in Wadi Rum? __________________________
6 In which sea can you (a) float (b) scuba dive? ________________

3 Decide if the following statements are True (T), False (F) or if there is no information given (NG). Write T, F or NG in the box beside each one.

1 English is widely spoken in Jordan.     F
2 King Abdullah’s father was King Hussein. T
3 You can’t find Bedouin in Jordan today.  F
4 Lawrence of Arabia was filmed at Petra.  T
5 Dead Sea mud is good for your skin.     F
6 The climate in Aqaba is pleasant all year round. F
1. Was it hard to learn English?
Yes, it was quite hard. When I first left Oman, I didn’t speak English at all. I’ve never taken any formal courses – I’ve just learned from the people around me. I think I’m OK at communicating in English now, but it was difficult at first.

2. If you hadn’t become a professional footballer, what career would you have chosen?
Before I became a footballer, I was a fireman at Seeb International Airport. That was a good job and I enjoyed it. It taught me patience and how to work hard. I’d be happy to be a fireman again.

3. What’s been the best moment of your career so far?
I’ve had many amazing moments. One wonderful moment was when Oman won the Gulf Cup in 2009. Also when I received a medal from His Majesty. And all the awards I’ve won for football over the years, such as the Best Goalkeeper of the Gulf Cup for four consecutive years.

4. You’re a role model for so many young people. Who is your role model?
My dad. He worked really hard for his family and taught us so many things. The most important thing I learned from him is that there’s no easy way or short cut to achieve your aims. The only way is through hard work.

5. What are your plans for the future?
I’d like to set up a school in Oman where kids can train to be goalkeepers.

6. What message do you have for the youth of Oman?
Focus on studying first, and think about football later. Everybody wants to be a footballer because they think it’s glamorous and exciting. But the truth is that it’s a lot of hard work. You can’t become a top football player immediately; you have to start at the bottom and give it everything you’ve got. That’s the only way to succeed!

The results of your (6) _____________ tests show that you are confident, and have good (7) _____________ skills. You are not afraid of making decisions. When you aim for something, you keep trying until you succeed.
Careers of the Future

Oman is investing heavily in education and training to create the next generation of leaders in both the business and public sectors. In September 2015, the government organisation Ithraa ran a series of seminars in Muscat called ‘Oman at Work’. The focus was on how the work environment in Oman is changing, and the challenges which these changes are bringing. The impact of digital technology on the workplace has been huge. Ithraa’s Director General for Marketing and Media, said, “We are living in a world few could have imagined even 20 years ago – a world powered by technology, fuelled by information and driven by knowledge.”

The ‘Millennials’

The second seminar was called ‘Millennials: A Different Work Perspective.’ ‘Millennials’ is a name coined for the generation born between 1980 and 2000. It is estimated that by 2025, Millennials will make up 75% of the global workforce. Millennials in Oman are better educated and more diverse than any previous generation. However, they are also more demanding.

These young workers want a different kind of working life to their grandparents and parents. They want a job to be fulfilling, not just bring a salary. In the past, many people had one job and one employer all their lives. But Millennials will probably not stay with one employer. They will have shorter careers, but more careers. Research suggests a typical Millennial will have had ten jobs by the age of 38.

Entrepreneurs

In the future, more people in Oman will work in small businesses and more women will work from home. Many workers are attracted to the idea of becoming an entrepreneur and starting their own business. This is partly because of the huge success of companies such as Facebook, Apple and Google, and partly because global recession has left some people with no other choice. In 2013, 18% of all adults worldwide, or 29% of the global workforce, were self-employed.

STEM: Jobs of the Future

The fourth seminar focused on STEM jobs (Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics) for Oman’s future. It was recognised that not everyone has an aptitude for science. However, it is important for more young people to pursue careers in these fields. Oman needs to encourage students to study STEM subjects in order to ensure the Sultanate’s future economic success. 1. Read the advertisement below for a marketing assistant for a media and publishing company. As you read, underline the modal verbs and indicate what kind they are (obligation, desirability, necessity). Write the appropriate letter above each verb (O, D, N).

Marketing Assistant Required

Employer: Ace Media and Publishing
Qualifications: Undergraduate degree
Hours: Full time
Location: Central London
Contract: Permanent
Salary: £20,000 per year

We are a leading media and publishing company, and we have an exciting opportunity for a marketing assistant to join our team. This highly desirable position is a great chance to establish a career in the marketing industry.

You don’t need to have a degree in marketing, but you must have a relevant degree and a high standard of written English. As Marketing Assistant, your responsibilities will include campaign analysis, copywriting and proofreading. You will also be responsible for database management.

You should have excellent written and verbal communication skills to make you stand out from the crowd. You also need to have outstanding organisational skills, and be able to work under pressure and adhere to deadlines.

If you think you fit the criteria above, and you would enjoy this challenging job, then send us your CV and a brief covering letter.

2. Answer the following questions about the advertisement. Write your answers on the lines.

a. What kind of company is offering the job?

b. Where is the company based?

c. What essential requirements must candidates have?

d. What responsibilities does the position involve?

e. What word in the advertisement means ‘excellent, unusually good’?

f. What word means ‘standards used to judge something’?

g. What should interested applicants do?
In groups, read and discuss the following tips from a careers manual on how to perform well at interviews.

a. Which are the most important useful tips?

b. Can you think of any other interview tips?

Interview Tips

Before the interview
- Before going for the interview, look up the company's website. Find out as much as you can about the company and the job which you're applying for.
- Plan your journey to the interview carefully. If the company is local and you haven't been there before, do a practice run a few days in advance so that you feel confident about getting there.
- Think about your own strengths and weaknesses, and how you are best suited for the job.
- Dress smartly for the interview and be clean and neat.
- Arrive well before the time of your interview to give yourself time to relax.

During the interview
- Smile and look pleasant. Appear motivated and enthusiastic about the job.
- Sit up straight and make eye contact with the interviewers.
- Listen to the questions carefully. Answer them as carefully and as fully as possible.
- Do not lie about what you can do.
- Talk about your strengths but do not exaggerate them.
- Speak clearly.
- Do not speak about your personal life unless asked.
- If you are not sure that you heard or understood something correctly, ask the interviewers politely to repeat what they have said.

After the interview
- The interviewers may ask you if you have any questions about the job. Prepare one or two questions in advance to ask them.
- Wait for the interviewers to tell you when you may leave. Thank them politely for the interview.

Listen to the extracts from five different job interviews. After listening to each interview, make notes in your exercise book to answer these questions:

a. What did each applicant say that was wrong?

b. What advice would you give them for the future?

Turn to page 75 of your Workbook and complete the Grammar Practice Activities.

2 Read the tips below about giving presentations. As you read, underline the most important words and phrases in each tip.

Ten Tips for Giving Successful Presentations

1 Prepare your presentation carefully. The better you know your material, the better your presentation will be.

2 Practise your presentation as much as possible. This will help you gain confidence. Practise to yourself in front of a mirror, or give your presentation to friends.
3. Give your presentation a clear introduction. Remember – first impressions are very important.

4. Organise your ideas well so that everything is clear and flows smoothly.

5. Speak clearly and at a good pace – not too fast or slow.

6. Have eye contact with your audience, and use gestures and body movement to make your presentation more interesting.

7. Try and guess what questions your audience will ask about your presentation. Have answers ready.

8. If you use visual aids – e.g. Powerpoint or Prezi – make sure they are clear and easy to read.

9. If you make mistakes, don’t worry. Try and stay calm and relaxed.

10. Smile and look pleasant. If you look as if you are enjoying your presentation, your audience will enjoy it too! At the end, thank your audience for listening.

In groups, choose a local or international company or business, large or small, that interests you. Find out as much information about it as you can and make notes in your exercise book.

Divide the different sections of the research among the members of your group.

1. You can find out information about the company or business from:
   - the Internet
   - company brochure or other literature
   - visiting the company or business
   - talking to people who work there

2. You should include information about:
   - a brief history of the company or business
   - the different sections and jobs
   - what kinds of products it makes or sells
   - why it is successful

Give a group presentation about the company or business to the class. Try to use your own words as much as possible, and not just read from your notes. If you like, you can use pictures or other visual aids to make your presentation more interesting.
Dear Sir / Madam,

I am a 21 year old student who will be graduating this summer from London University with a BA Honours degree in English. I am writing to ask you about opportunities for employment with your newspaper.

I have always been interested in news. At school, I was the editor of my class magazine. During my three years at university, I worked on the student newspaper. In the holidays, I did temporary jobs in the offices of a local newspaper.

I would very much like to make journalism my career, and I am especially interested in travel and current events. I would like to work as an overseas news correspondent one day, based in the Middle East.

I have also heard that your newspaper runs training courses for graduates. If so, I would be most grateful if you could tell me how to apply for such a course.

I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Yours faithfully,

Salma Al Jabri

Sharifa Al Barami: Businesswoman and Entrepreneur

According to Sharifa Al Barami, the best piece of advice she ever received was from a teacher in Grade 12 who told her, “Know one thing about everything, and know everything about one thing.” So what advice does she herself have for students in their last year at school? “You have to find out what ignites your passion, and what you’re good at. If you don’t know what you’re good at, then find out from your family, teachers and peers, and work on your skills and abilities to become even better.”

A Journey, not a Destination
She strongly believes that young people should be prepared to be flexible and open to change. “Learning is a journey, not a destination. What you study at school and university only gives you the tools to carve a path. You have to put in the effort and work to carve that path yourself. Make learning a lifelong quest. The most valuable learning happens without getting a certificate at the end. Don’t restrict yourself to your degree subject, but keep yourself open to new fields as well.”

Hobbies and Interests
Sharifa believes that hobbies and interests can sometimes turn into a career. One of her own passions, her love of reading, has inspired her to read around many work related subjects. “Think about which of your hobbies it would be possible to turn into a career or business. Then you will be blessed, because you will be able to do what you love, and love what you do. That is how innovation and creativity are bred, and where Oman as a nation needs to forge ahead.”

Future Plans
Sharifa is a keen user of social media such as Facebook and Twitter. But although social media is good, she feels it is more important to focus on the things you have control of and can build on yourself. She is a role model for many people, but she herself has many role models. She admires different people for different qualities such as innovation and leadership. As to the future, she has many projects in mind. She is keen to support the Omani economy, and her greatest aim is to carry on giving in order to get something back. “If you want things to come to you, you’ve got to give,” she says.
1 How well can you do these things?

The Benefits of Exercise

Many people today have physically inactive lives. They saunter out to their cars every morning, drive to work, then sit or stand in one place for most of the day. After work, they drive home, then settle down in a comfortable chair to watch TV. But this way of life is not healthy. Research shows that people who lead sedentary lives without doing much exercise are at greater risk from heart disease and other illnesses than active people.

Exercise and health
Studies have shown that men and women who keep themselves physically fit are less likely to develop high blood pressure, a condition which often paves the way to heart disease. Exercise can reduce the risk of heart disease and other illnesses in several ways. Firstly, it can help with lowering cholesterol in the blood. Secondly, it can help improve the health of overweight people by helping them lose weight. Thirdly, it often has psychological benefits, helping to relieve depression and increasing people’s general sense of well-being. So more and more people are jogging, swimming, cycling and doing other forms of aerobic exercise – in other words, exercise that requires a constant flow of oxygen.

Keeping healthy in Oman
During the winter months in Oman, it is possible to exercise outdoors, and there are many people who enjoy running and cycling during this time. There are also sports clubs with team sports that you can join, such as football and volleyball, and outdoor activities such as kite surfing and rock climbing. It is also possible to run during some of the summer months, in the very early mornings, but this may still be unbearably hot for some and so become a health risk.

Once temperatures begin to soar, many people prefer to go to indoor exercise areas. Oman has many different health clubs and gyms which are well equipped for different types of exercise. You can do cardio or weights with or without the help of a personal trainer. Many gyms also offer different types of fitness classes, ranging from aerobic workouts to yoga classes.

Fitness programmes
Sometimes people begin fitness programmes but then they lose interest and drop out. So how can this be prevented? Studies have shown that people are more likely to continue exercising when they are in a group. In addition, they are more likely to adhere to a fitness programme if they can incorporate exercise into their daily routine – for example, by walking short distances instead of driving, or walking up the stairs instead of taking the lift. These small changes need no special equipment and can make all the difference to a person’s health. (438 words)

Most importantly, never (8) ____________ to cross a wadi which is (9) ____________ after heavy rain.

Look at the words and phrases in the box in Activity 1. Listen to the talk again, and tick (✓) the ones you hear.
Read the views of the four people below. Discuss them with your group, and say why you agree/don’t agree with each person’s opinion.

A. It’s really worrying how many natural disasters happen these days. Every time you watch the news, there’s something about floods or an earthquake. I’m sure there are more natural disasters today than in the past.

B. All the hurricanes and tsunamis that happen show how unprepared we are for natural disasters. We need to spend more money on research to develop better warning systems.

C. We see so many natural disasters on the news that unfortunately we’ve become immune to them. They always seem so far away and there’s not very much we can do to help. We think, “Oh, it’s just another flood.”

D. You can’t prevent natural disasters because nobody knows when they are going to happen. In any case, they aren’t as scary as man-made disasters like plane crashes. We should focus more on preventing those.

Complete the words in the puzzle. All the words can be found in Units 1 – 3 of this theme.

In 1845, three boys at Rugby School in England published the rules of a game that had been played at their school for over a hundred years. They called this game ‘rugby football’. All modern forms of rugby have developed from this game, as well as other games such as American and Canadian football. The best known rugby game is called rugby union. The most important tournament of this game is the Rugby World Cup. This takes place every four years and is one of the biggest sporting events in the world. Only football's World Cup and the Olympic Games are watched by more people than the Rugby World Cup.

Work with a partner. One student takes Topic A (Basketball) and the other Topic B (Volleyball). Read the information in the relevant fact file and prepare a short talk. You may add to or expand on the information given below.

Take time to practise by yourself first. Make sure that you speak in complete sentences, use facial expressions and maintain eye contact with your partner.

FACT FILE

A. Basketball
- Two teams of five players per side
- Invented in 1891 in Massachusetts, USA, by Dr James Naismith
- Aim is to shoot a ball through the other team’s hoop or ‘basket’
- Equipment needed – a court, hoops or ‘baskets’ and a ball
- Players can bounce the ball or throw it to a team mate

FACT FILE

B. Volleyball
- Two teams of six players per side
- Invented in 1895 in Massachusetts, USA, by William G. Morgan
- Aim is to send the ball over a net so that the other team cannot return it
- Equipment needed – a court, a high net and a ball
- Can be played in a gym, at the beach or on grass

Prepare a short presentation about a sport or game of your choice. Make notes about your sport or game first, then tell your group about it.

Here are some suggestions (but you may choose another sport or game if you prefer):

- tennis
- badminton
- bowling
- golf

Your presentation should be about 5 minutes long and could include information about:
- where the sport is popular
- what the rules are
- what equipment you need to play the sport
- famous people connected to the sport

Turn to Communication Activity 4 on page 67 of your Workbook and carry out a survey about sport in your class. Write a short report about your findings.
1 Read the introduction below to an evaluative essay about the best ways to make Oman clean and healthy. When you have finished, answer questions a, b and c underneath.

The best ways to make Oman clean and healthy

Oman is a beautiful country which is very active in the protection of its environment. The Ministry of the Environment and Climate Affairs carries out many environmental projects. In addition, there is the Environment Society of Oman (ESO). This is a non-governmental organisation (NGO) which was established in 2004. Its aim is to help educate people and raise awareness about environmental issues. However, in my view, we should not rely on organisations. I believe there are things that all of us can do in our everyday lives to make our country a cleaner and healthier place.

2 Work in groups. Discuss the title of the essay in Activity 1. Write your ideas about what should be included in the essay in the circles below. One idea has been written for you.

Put garbage in litter bins
3. Work with a partner. Choose the three ideas from Activity 2 which you think are the most important. Write them into Column A below. In Column B, give reasons and evidence to support your ideas. Write notes, not complete sentences.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>A</th>
<th>Best ways to make Oman clean and healthy</th>
<th>B</th>
<th>Supporting reasons and evidence</th>

Michael Kelly: Responsible for the Safety of Millions

Michael Kelly, Director of Fire and Safety at the Emaar Shopping Group complex in Dubai, talks about his job

1. How did you get your job?
   When I retired from the Fire Rescue Service in the UK, the Emaar Malls group were recruiting for a Director of Fire and Safety. I had good qualifications - a Bachelor of Science (BSc) in Fire Engineering, and an Master of Business Administration (MBA) specialising in fire and safety measures for large projects. I also had excellent experience. I’ve been responsible for fire safety at several large and prestigious projects in Manchester. So I decided to apply to the Emaar Malls group, and my CV was forwarded to the Chief Executive Officer (CEO). I had two telephone interviews, then I was invited to Dubai and offered the job.

2. What are your responsibilities?
   I’m responsible for all aspects of fire and safety around all the Emaar Group’s malls and buildings including Burj Khalifa. I have to continually assess potential risks. I attend incidents, liaise with Dubai Civil Defence and with contractors and designers doing any alterations which could cause hazards.

3. How do you feel about your job?
   It’s very exciting, but it’s also a huge challenge. Every time I see the size of the Mall and Burj Khalifa, I can’t believe that I’m responsible for safety there and protecting the public and preventing incidents. I’ve never been responsible for the safety of so many people before.

4. What have been your most challenging moments?
   There are many events at Burj Khalifa which pose a challenge, such as the New Year firework displays, which are attended by about 1.5 million people, exhibitions and shows. There’s been a jet pack pilot who flew 300 metres in the air. We’ve also had some film stars dropping in, such as Tom Cruise.

5. How do you enjoy living in the Middle East?
   I love it! I’m very happy here. Living in a different culture keeps your mind alert and interested. I also believe that it’s good to take the chance to try new experiences. I enjoyed my job in the Fire Rescue Service, but this job has offered me a wonderful possibility for change. Some people are afraid of trying something new, and that’s very sad. I think it’s much better to try and fail, than not try at all.

GRAMMAR RECALL

Collocations with infinitives and gerunds

Verbs, nouns and adjectives can collocate with (go with) infinitives and gerunds. There are no specific rules that govern whether an infinitive or a gerund should be used. Some verbs can collocate with either.

Changes in Meaning

The meanings of some verbs can change depending on whether they are followed by an infinitive or gerund. Example: He forgets to lock the door. (It’s a habit.)

He hasn’t forgotten seeing the accident. (He can’t lose the memory).

2. Circle the correct verbs in the sentences below.

a. Will you promise to help/helping me?

b. You shouldn’t put off to write/writing your essay any longer.

c. I don’t remember to meet/meeting that lady before.

d. My brother enjoys to play/playing football on the beach.

5. Some countries allow foreign residents to have ____________________ after they have lived in a country for a certain number of years.
6. Without ____________________, it would be difficult to pay for major sporting events like the World Cup.

5. Read the scenarios below. Role play the situations with a partner.

Student A: You do not really care about the environment and drop some litter on the street.
Student B: You see a stranger dropping litter on the street. You decide to speak to them about their actions and explain why it is important to take care of the environment.

Student A: You regularly volunteer for a charity. Try to persuade your friend to join you.
Student B: You are not interested in volunteering for a charity because you do not see any benefit for yourself.

The Arabian Peninsula in Prehistory

Millions of years ago, the Arabian Peninsula was very different from how it is today. There was much more rainfall. Rivers flowed all year round, not just during the rainy season. The Peninsula was much greener. There wasn’t as much desert. Grasslands and forests grew. There was a much wider range of wildlife. There were ostriches and there is even evidence that dinosaurs lived here.

Listening & Speaking
A global citizen can be defined as someone who is aware of the wider world, and actively participates in both local and global communities. This essay explains
____________________________________________
____________________________________________.

What does promoting peace involve?

Promoting peace locally involves developing tolerance and respect for diversity, so that people from different backgrounds can live together peacefully. The principles of tolerance and respect also apply at a global level. In addition, a country's approach when dealing with other countries is also important.

How has Sultan Qaboos promoted peace locally and globally?

Sultan Qaboos has promoted peace locally and globally in several ways. At a local level he has fostered an attitude of cultural and religious tolerance in Oman. The focus on cultural and religious tolerance in Oman (1) This attitude has led to openness to and acceptance of different cultures and religions. This means that many foreigners coexist peacefully with local people in Oman.

At a global level, His Majesty implements a policy of peaceful negotiations when he deals with other countries. Implementing a policy of peaceful negotiations (2) has enabled him to build good relationships both with other countries in the Gulf Region and with Western countries like the US and UK. As a result of Sultan Qaboos's good relationships with Gulf countries and Western countries (3) , Oman was able to play a pivotal role in hosting talks between the US and Iran. The talks between the US and Iran (4) led to a historic agreement on Iran's nuclear programme.

Why is promoting peace important?

One reason that Sultan Qaboos strives to promote peace is because he believes that it is essential for Oman's long term security and prosperity. Another reason is that Sultan Qaboos believes that peaceful resolutions must be adopted to create stability in the Middle East. His work to promote peace and his willingness to host the Iran US talks has cemented Oman’s reputation as a peaceful nation that works to create peace both in the region and the world.
3. Analyse the cohesion in the essay by completing the tasks in the box below.

a. Look at the example in the essay where the phrase "The focus on cultural and religious tolerance in Oman" has been replaced with "This attitude".

This helps avoid repetition and create cohesion.

Replace the other phrases that have been underlined in the essay with this or these and the words provided below.

- good relationships
- policy
- talks

b. Can you identify any other words or phrases that link sentences together in the text?

4. Think about how you and your classmates can be more active as global citizens. Choose a topic from below to focus on in your essay.

- the environment
- poverty
- trade
- health
- peace

Before you write your essay, brainstorm some ideas in the table below about what it involves, how you can contribute and why it is important. An example has been given below to help you.

Example: Environment

Free at Last!
In 1989, a new President, F.W. de Klerk, came to power in South Africa. President de Klerk gave orders for Mandela and other political prisoners to be released. Mandela was set free on 11 February 1990. His release was watched on TV by millions of people all over the world. Mandela was finally free, and people felt great joy about that. But they also felt sad and shocked that he had been imprisoned for 27 years.

President Mandela
In 1991, Mandela became leader of the ANC. In 1993, Mandela and President de Klerk were jointly given the Nobel Peace Prize for their work for peace in South Africa. On 27 April 1994, elections in South Africa took place, and black people were allowed to vote for the first time. The ANC won the election and in May 1994, Nelson Mandela became South Africa's first black president.

Mandela worked very hard to build a new South Africa, and did many things to help the poor. He built new houses, and brought water and electricity to every house. In 1995, he started the Children's Fund to help the children of South Africa.

The Rugby World Cup
In 1995, South Africa hosted the Rugby World Cup. President Mandela wore a Springbok rugby shirt. The springbok antelope is South Africa's national animal. In the past, South Africa's rugby team, the Springboks, had been all-white. Mandela wore the shirt to help bring white and black together through sport.

Mandela as World Statesman
Mandela was welcomed around the world as a great leader, and given many honours. He wrote a book about his life called Long Walk to Freedom.

In 1999, Nelson Mandela retired as President, and from 2004, he gave up politics to enjoy a quiet life with his family. He died on 5 December 2013 at the age of 95 after a lung illness.

Calculate your reading score and write the number of words per minute (WPM) into the box below. Check your answers to the comprehension questions with the text on page 17. Write your score into the box below.
Many people today:
- don't do enough physical exercise
- spend too much time in their cars
- watch TV all day
- die from heart disease

Heart disease:
- can be prevented by exercise
- is often a result of high blood pressure
- is only caused by a sedentary lifestyle
- always happens to physically inactive people

Exercise can help to:
- lower cholesterol in the blood
- reduce weight
- increase a sense of well-being
- all of the above

More and more people are:
- going on a diet
- developing high blood pressure
- doing some kind of aerobic exercise
- becoming less depressed

Aerobic exercise:
- is mostly for overweight people
- stops heart disease
- refers only to jogging, swimming and cycling
- needs a lot of oxygen

During winter in Oman, many people:
- only exercise outdoors
- like going running and cycling
- join a sports club
- learn to kite surf

During the summer in Oman, running:
- can be dangerous to health
- is only possible in the evenings
- should only be done in a gym
- should never be attempted

Many gyms in Oman:
- are part of health clubs
- have only the best equipment
- insist that you use a personal trainer
- offer a variety of fitness classes

People are more likely to continue exercising when:
- they exercise by themselves
- they are part of a group
- they make big changes to their life
- they walk instead of drive

To change your daily routine, you should:
- join a gym
- always walk everywhere
- find small ways of including exercise
- never use a lift

2. Read through the tips below for completing a job application form. Underline the most important phrases in each instruction. Choose ONE of the jobs in the box in the ‘Activate Your English’ section on page 21 of your Coursebook. Choose a job that will suit your own personality. Fill in the name of the job in the heading at the top of the form. Then fill in the form.

Tips for Completing a Job Application Form

• Read the instructions carefully before you start filling in the form. For example, some forms ask you to use black ink. Some forms ask you to complete them in BLOCK LETTERS, in which case you must do that.
• Take your time filling in the form – don’t rush.
• It is a good idea to make a photocopy of the form and practise filling the form in first on the copy. That way, if you make a mistake, it doesn’t matter.
• If you cannot make a photocopy, fill the form out in light pencil first. If you make a mistake, you can rub it out.
• Get someone else to check the completed form for spelling errors before you complete it using a pen.
• Most important – WRITE NEATLY AND CLEARLY.

A Narrative Essay

In a narrative essay, you need to sequence your ideas in a clear and logical way. Before you write your essay, it is very important to plan and organise it. Always write your ideas down on paper rather than planning the essay in your head.

When writing a narrative essay based on a picture story, follow the pictures carefully to make the order of events clear.

a. Layout

Introduction

Use the first picture to set the scene. Ask yourself questions about it, e.g.

Who is in the picture? (two boys)
Where are they? (in a boat)
What are they doing? (fishing)

Two boys were in a boat, fishing.

Now think of some details to make the story more interesting, e.g.

Yesterday Ahmed and his friend Saif went fishing in a boat in the sea near Sur. It was a beautiful afternoon and the boys felt relaxed and happy.

Main body

Work through the rest of the pictures, connecting the events together so that they tell the story in a logical sequence.

Conclusion

Use the last picture as a conclusion to your story. Introduce your conclusion with a word such as Finally…..At last….In the end, e.g.

Finally the boys were pulled to safety.

b. Language

1. Use the words and phrases in the box above the pictures to give you ideas for the story. You may have to change the form of the words to be grammatically correct.

2. Remember that because you are telling a story, the verbs should be in the past tense.

3. Use connecting words such as First…..next….then….after that….finally to link the different sections of the story together.

4. Use other adverbs to give variety to the story and make it more interesting, e.g.

Unfortunately, the engine was broken.

Suddenly, the boys saw dark clouds over the mountains.

Quickly, the policeman threw a strong rope to the boys.

Editing your essay

Check the following things in your essay.

Grammar:

Check to see that:
- every sentence has a subject and verb
- your verb tenses are correct
- you have used pronouns and prepositions correctly

Spelling:

Check your spelling. Use a dictionary to help you. Look up any words you are not sure about.

Punctuation:

Check that you have used the following correctly:
- capital letters
- full stops and commas
- apostrophes

Correct any mistakes, then write a second draft of your essay.
Theme 2
Work and Careers
A Covering Letter for a Job Application

a. Layout

Put your address in the top right-hand corner of your letter with the date underneath. Put the name of the person and the address of the company you are writing to on the left hand side of the page.

Write the main body of your letter. Divide it into short paragraphs and include the following information:

Paragraph 1
• state the purpose of your letter
• where you saw the job advertised
• why you want to apply for it

Paragraph 2 and 3
• your background and qualifications
• any relevant work experience

Paragraph 4
• any additional details such as skills and languages

Paragraph 5
• say that you are attaching your CV to your letter of application.
• Give the names and contact details of referees.

b. Language

1. Use formal language in your letter.
2. Begin your letter with:

   Dear Mr Smith

   If you don’t know the name of the person you are writing to, put:

   Dear Sir or Madam

3. End your letter with a sentence such as:

   • I look forward (I am looking forward) to hearing from you soon.
   • I look forward (I am looking forward) to hearing from you in the near future.

   If you know the name of the person you are writing to, end your letter with the phrase Yours sincerely.

   Yours sincerely
   Saleh Al Barwani

   If you don’t know the name of the person, end it with the phrase Yours faithfully.

   Yours faithfully
   Saleh Al Barwani

In an evaluative essay, you express your opinion about something, and support it with reasons and evidence to make your argument stronger. As with a narrative essay, it is very important to plan and organise an evaluative essay. Always write your ideas down on paper rather than planning the essay in your head.

a. Layout

Introduction
In the introduction, you should give background information to the topic and state your opinion about it.

Title – Ways of improving water safety in Oman

Although people in Oman are becoming more aware of water safety, I believe that there are several things we can do to improve it more.

Main body
State three or four reasons as to why you have formed your opinion, and make each reason the subject of a separate paragraph.

In my view, we should raise awareness among parents about water safety.

I think that schools can greatly help in promoting water safety.

I don’t believe that people are sufficiently aware of the dangers of wadis after heavy rain.

For each reason, add supporting evidence and examples to make your argument stronger.

Parents must not allow their young children to play in the sea or swimming pools unsupervised.

For example, schools can arrange talks about water safety. They should also make swimming lessons part of the school curriculum.

Heavy rain causes flash floods, which can carry people and cars away. You should never try to cross an overflowing wadi as you can easily drown in the strong current.

Conclusion
In the conclusion, summarise your overall opinion.

In conclusion, I think that all the ways mentioned above would be effective in improving water safety in Oman.

b. Language

There are several phrases that can be used to introduce your opinion:

• I think that………
• I believe that ………
• I feel that………
• In my view, ………
• In my opinion, ………

You can also use negative phrases to introduce your opinion.

• I don’t think that………
• I don’t believe that ………
• I don’t feel that………

If you want to refer to someone else’s opinion you can use the phrase ‘According to.’

• According to Ali, English is easier to learn than French.

Editing your essay
Check the following things in your essay.

Grammar:
Check to see that:
• every sentence has a subject and verb
• your verb tenses are correct
• you have used pronouns and prepositions correctly

Spelling:

Paragraph 2- How?
• Explain how your classmates/ local students can contribute to your chosen topic as global citizens.

Paragraph 3- Why?
• Explain why it is important to contribute to and be active in the global community in the area you have chosen.

Conclusion
• You can add a concluding paragraph or you can write a concluding sentence at the end of Paragraph 3.

b. Language
1. Try and repeat key terms related to your topic (e.g. global citizen, protecting the environment) to create cohesion.

2. Use 'this/these + noun' to refer back to previous information to create cohesion.

3. Use language for making statements, for example:
   - One issue that is important to global citizens is….
   - Protecting the environment/ promoting peace/ eradicating poverty involves….
   - Students can contribute to protecting the environment/ promoting peace/ eradicating poverty by…
   - It is important we protect the environment/ promote peace/ eradicate poverty because…
   - It is our responsibility to….

Editing your essay
Check the following things in your essay:
• Does your essay move from general to specific? (What – How – Why)
• Have you included a sentence to outline the organisation of the essay?
• Does each paragraph have one main idea?
• Have you written strong clear topic sentences?
• Have you used suitable phrases for making statements?
• Will the reader be able to read and understand your text easily?
• Have you given your essay a suitable title?
Grammar:
Check to see that:
• Every sentence has a subject and verb
• Your tenses are correct
• You have used pronouns and prepositions correctly

Cohesion: Check that you have used cohesive devices to clearly link ideas in your essay together.

Spelling: Check your spelling. Use a dictionary to help you. Look up words you are not sure about.

Punctuation: Check you have used the following correctly:
• capital letters
• full stops and commas
• apostrophes

Correct any mistakes. Then write a second draft of your essay.
Reported speech, or indirect speech, is a way of reporting what someone said without using their actual words.

Reported statements

The verb in the reporting clause is usually one tense back from the reporting verb which introduces it.

<table>

Reported questions

Reported questions which require yes/no type answers are commonly introduced by ‘if’ or ‘whether’. Some examples of common verbs used to introduce reported questions are ask, want to know and enquire.

If the reporting verb is in the past, we change the verb tense to one tense back, in the same way as for reported statements.

Reported commands

Reported commands, requests, promises and advice are formed with a verb + person + to + infinitive.

In the negative form, we put not before to.

Modal verbs

Modal verbs are types of auxiliary verbs - verbs which 'help' other verbs. They are used to express ideas such as:

- ability (I can swim)
- permission (May I leave the room?)
- certainty (The population of the world will increase)
- possibility (Unfortunately, the panda may become extinct)
- requests (Could I have some water please?)
- obligation (Students must answer all four exam questions)
- desirability (You should try and eat less)
- necessity (You need to wear warm clothes in winter)
- lack of necessity (You needn’t arrive before eight o’clock)

Expressing obligation and desirability

<tr>
<td>They</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>He</td>
<td>needs to</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>She</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Expressing necessity

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Affirmative</th>
<th>Negative (lack of necessity)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I</td>
<td>don’t need to</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>You</td>

</tbody>
</table>

Conjunctions

Conjunctions are linking words or phrases which join parts of a sentence or two sentences together. There are seven main types of conjunctions as follows:

- addition
- reason
- result
- similarity
- contrast
- time
- example

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>addition</th>
<th>and, also, in addition, moreover, furthermore</th>
</tr>

<td>firstly, secondly, thirdly, next, then, finally</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>result</td>
<td>therefore, so consequently, as a result, thus</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>example</td>
<td>for instance, for example,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>similarity</td>
<td>in the same way, similarly, likewise</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Some examples of conjunctions in sentences

- I would like to visit you this weekend but I’m afraid I’m busy. (contrast)
- Many houses were destroyed due to Cyclone Gonu. (reason)
- First, students should write a draft of their essay, then they should check it for errors. (time)
- John worked very hard all year so he did very well in his exams. (result)
- Many wild animals live in Pakistan, for instance, leopards and bears. (example)
- The Internet has made communication easier; similarly so have mobile phones. (similarity)

Infinitives and Gerunds

Some verbs, adjectives and nouns collocate (go with) the infinitive forms of other verbs (‘to’ + verb stem). Some collocate with the gerund forms (verb + -ing) of other verbs. Some can collocate with either infinitive or gerund forms.

Examples:

Verb + infinitive only
She agreed to do the work.

Verb + gerund only
He enjoys playing football.

Verb + infinitive or gerund
They like to walk on the beach. They like walking on the beach.

Some verbs that collocate only with infinitive forms of other verbs:

- agree
- attempt
- decide
- expect
- hesitate
- hope
- learn
- neglect
- plan
- pretend
- promise
- predict
- hope
- promise

Some verbs that collocate only with gerund forms of other verbs:

- appreciate
- deny
- give up
- put off
- avoid
- enjoy
- mind
- quit
- consider
- finish
- practise
- suggest

Some verbs that can collocate with either infinitive or gerund forms of other verbs:

- begin
- like
- regret
- start
- continue
- prefer
- remember
- try

Changes in meaning

The meanings of some verbs change according to whether they collocate with an infinitive or a gerund.

Examples:

1. He always forgets to switch off the light. (It’s a habit). He can’t forget living in Italy. (He is unable to lose the memory).
2. She remembered to get petrol before the trip. (She didn’t forget to do it). She remembered leaving her purse on the table. (She has a memory of doing it).
3. He stopped to buy a newspaper. (Buying a newspaper was the reason that he stopped). He has stopped going to the gym. (He doesn’t go to the gym any more).

Prepositions

Prepositions indicate a relationship between nouns or pronouns in a sentence with other things in the sentence. Many prepositions are very short, less than six letters. Others are phrases, consisting of a combination of words. The two most common types of prepositions are prepositions of time, and prepositions of place.

1. Prepositions of Time

The most common prepositions of time are at, in and on.

We use at to pinpoint a time:
- at six o’clock; at 10.30; at night; at sunset
We use in for months, years, centuries and long periods:
- in October; in 2015; in the nineteenth century; in the summer

We use on for days of the week, dates and specific days:
- on Sunday; on 2 March; on National Day

Examples:
- The meeting is at 9 a.m.
- My birthday is in June.
- Do you work on Saturdays?

Some other examples of prepositions of time:
- after, during, since
- before, for, until

2. Prepositions of Place
These are used to show the location or position of one thing in relation to another. Generally speaking:

We use at to indicate a point:
- at the bus stop; at the corner; at the beginning

We use in to indicate an enclosed space:
- in the garden; in my pocket; in Oman

We use on to indicate a surface:
- on the wall; on the floor; on page 25

Examples:
- The shop is at the end of my road.
- Salalah is in the south of Oman.
- The author's name is on the cover of the book.

Some other examples of prepositions of place:
- above, beside, near, over
- around, between, next to, through
- behind, down, opposite, under

3. More prepositions
Here are examples of more prepositions. Note that prepositions can be phrases rather than one word:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>about</th>
<th>by</th>
<th>instead of</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>according to</td>
<td>concerning</td>
<td>with</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>apart from</td>
<td>except (for)</td>
<td>without</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Theme 4
Citizenship

Used to + infinitive

'Used to + infinitive' refers to past habits or situations which have stopped or changed in some way. It always refers to the past, not the present or future. (Simple present tense is used to talk about present habits). Negatives can be formed with 'did not', 'didn’t' or 'never'. Questions can be formed with 'did', or 'used to' can be used with Wh- questions.

Affirmative

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>I</th>
<th>You</th>
<th>We</th>
<th>They</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>must</td>
<td>have to</td>
<td>should</td>
<td>ought to</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>go to the doctor.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>He</th>
<th>She</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>must</td>
<td>has to</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Negative

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>I</th>
<th>You</th>
<th>We</th>
<th>They</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>mustn’t</td>
<td>shouldn’t</td>
<td>oughtn’t to</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>behave like that!</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
1. 'Used to + infinitive' refers to a past habit or condition that has stopped or changed.

I used to live in Sohar. (but now I live in Muscat)

2. 'Used to + infinitive' refers to the past, never the present or future. (Simple present tense is used to talk about present habits).

3. A clause in the present simple tense to a sentence with 'used to + infinitive' shows a contrast between past and present.

I used to play football, but now I play tennis.

4. The negative can be formed by adding 'didn’t' or 'never' before 'use to + infinitive'. Note: in the negative 'used to' with didn’t becomes 'use to'.

Oman didn’t use to have many schools or hospitals.

We never used to watch TV.

5. 'Used to + infinitive' can be used with Wh-questions or questions can be formed with 'did'.

What used to be here?
Where did you use to go to school?
Did you use to like chocolate when you were young?

I’m very proud of the country because...
Omanis are...

That would be a very good idea.
I really think you should do something soon.

Urging
